

Spring Grant Cycle Scoring Rubric

5 points maximum per question

1. How well does this application examine the underlying causes that are creating a local need and seek a solution to address that need?
2. How well does this application represent a proactive rather than reactive approach? Is it culturally relevant, change-oriented or problem-solving in nature?
3. Does this project/program have a broad reach, as represented by the number of people affected, or the depth of impact to those who are involved or affected?
4. How well-defined is the plan to measure and report on the success of the program according to the stated objectives?
5. Does the amount of the request seem in line with the potential benefit?
6. How accurately did the project budget detail the funding and expenses?
