

Wayne County Foundation welcomes Daniel Arthur to the role of Communications Coordinator

The Wayne County Foundation is proud to announce the selection of Daniel Arthur to serve in a newly created role of Communications Coordinator.

‘I’m looking forward to joining the Foundation staff because I know it’s comprised of some really awesome, talented, and passionate folks,’ said Arthur. ‘I can’t wait to see what we can accomplish!’

Arthur had previously served as the Communications Coordinator at the Wayne County Area Chamber of Commerce, a position he held since 2020. The Centerville, Indiana native studied communication and media studies at Indiana University East, where he graduated from in 2020.

‘We are very excited to have Daniel join the team,’ said Rebecca Gilliam, who serves as executive director of the Foundation. ‘His wide skill set will greatly benefit our efforts and presence in the community.’

The role will support Forward Wayne County as well the Foundation’s community engagement efforts, where Daniel’s expertise in content creation across multiple mediums will be immediately felt. Arthur will begin his new role on April 4, 2022.

Lisa Bates assumes new position as Database Administrator

The Wayne County Foundation would also like to announce that Lisa Bates has successfully transitioned to the newly created role of Database Administrator.

Bates had formerly served the Foundation as Program Officer. She has been with the Foundation since 2005.

In her new role, Bates will oversee all facets of the Foundation’s new donor development database, including maintenance, data integrity, as well as the development of Foundation-wide database usage practices and policies.
