LEN AND MARY JO

Leading the Way

Len and Mary Jo Clark moved to Richmond in 1967 when Len joined the Earlham College faculty. Their lives changed as three children were added to the family, Len became Provost and Academic Dean at Earlham and Mary Jo, along with Pat Heiny, formed a national consulting company. In 2001, she and Pat established the Women's Fund at the Foundation, a fund that has to date distributed over $250,000 for local causes.

In the past several years Mary Jo has focused more on local leadership and has collaborated with others to lead the Institute for Creative Leadership. Len has focused much of his time serving the Wayne County Foundation as a six-year board member and Chairman of the Board. Recently, he moved into a new leadership role, chair of the Forward Wayne County initiative. He has guided this project from a start-up program to a functioning backbone organization that is regionally recognized.

It was during Len's time on the Foundation board that he and Mary Jo established an endowment at the Foundation. Their fund supports the Foundation's grant-making process and, because it is unrestricted, allows the board to address the community's most pressing needs as they arise each year.

In establishing the fund and later, in growing the fund, the Clarks took advantage of the matching GIFT programs offered by Lilly Endowment, Inc. In doing so, they were able to match their gifts into the fund, essentially tripling their giving.

The generosity they have shown by giving of themselves and their resources is a reflection of the family values they hold dear and just a small part of the legacy they are passing on to their children and grandchildren.

DONOR ADVISED FUNDS

As the name implies, a donor advised fund allows a person or organization to make gifts out of a fund that is created for the benefit of various charitable organizations or purposes. Think of it as a 'charitable checking account,' where money is set aside now for distribution in the future.

Donor advised funds can be created as non-permanent funds that can be depleted or as permanently endowed funds, where only a portion of the fund is made available for distribution each year.

For some, donor advised funds are simply a matter of convenience, but there are advantages, too. These funds can receive large gifts when a 'life event' happens. Perhaps the sale of your business or home created capital gains. A gift into the fund might help with the tax consequences!

Donor advised funds are also taking on a new importance with tax reform. To reach the higher threshold for itemizing deductions, some donors are considering 'bunching' their gifts with a contribution into an advised fund once every two or three years. This strategy will help them achieve larger deductions while also supporting their favorite charities every year.

Donor advised funds can also be used for family philanthropy. Some donors use an advised fund as a substitute for a more complicated family foundation, while others use them to teach their children the value of helping others.

AMBASSADOR HEALTH CARE

Corporate Giving

Ambassador Healthcare uses their corporate donor advised fund to support their community...

"As an independently owned, locally managed company, Ambassador Healthcare has been a part of the Richmond/Centerville community for many years. Most of our residents and most of our employees come from our community. It is logical then that we support the community and community organizations. Establishing a donor advised fund through the Wayne County Foundation has been a great tool to allow Ambassador Healthcare to establish a pool of assets to be used to support community organizations when and where it is most appropriate."

JILL AND JIM KING

Creating Community

“We are proud of our historic small town. The Cambridge City area is full of possibilities and we are proud to be a part of the efforts to make it a great place for residents and visitors alike.”

Jim and Jill King are well-known in Cambridge City. Jill's ready smile and can-do attitude have made her a favorite at the Wayne County Foundation, in the Cambridge City school system, and at the Museum of Overbeck Art Pottery, just a few of the many places where she volunteers. She served as a Board member for the Wayne County Foundation for six years, served on the grant committee, and was the recipient of the prestigious Ruth J. Wickemeyer Award for Community Service in 2012.

Jim is actively involved in the Cambridge City Main Street program which is thriving under his leadership. As President, he applied for and received a $25,000 Key Initiative Grant from Forward Wayne County that will be used to create an Arts and Development Center in the Mathias and Kline buildings on Cambridge City's Main Street. This grant not only develops a flexible-use space for the citizens but also revitalizes two historic structures along the city's main corridor.

The Kings own an historic home on Main Street and recently opened a café a few blocks away - two ways they have shown their commitment to a community they have called home for 35 years. A third way they personally support their community is through a donor-advised fund which they established at the Foundation to benefit various community projects. Upon their passing the assets of the fund will be used to create a permanent fund that will add to or replace trees at Creitz Park, a natural jewel in the Cambridge City community.

Together the Kings serve their community now with their time, talent, and treasures and have created a legacy that will assure their passions are funded long after their time in Cambridge City has ended.

FORWARD Wayne County

Forward Wayne County's 2020 Vision
Moving The Wayne County Community Forward

Wow, 2019 was a whirlwind year for Forward Wayne County!

Wayne County faces significant and persistent challenges that include declining population, lack of high-skilled employment pool, high percentage of families living in poverty, and low levels of educational attainment. The process to solving these complex and multi-faceted problems will take time, collaborative efforts, and the enrollment of a diverse group of community members. Our goal at Forward Wayne County is to create community level change through collective impact strategies. If we want to make real impact it requires the community and residents to get involved as producers and co-producers of their own community and their community's well-being.

Forward Wayne County continues to focus on two key pillars: Our People and Our Community and operates as a backbone organization.

As a backbone organization our primary responsibilities include:

- Guiding vision and strategy
- Supporting aligned activities
- Establishing shared measurement practices
- Building public will
- Advancing policy
- Mobilizing funding

Forward Wayne County started in the spring of 2019 by launching our website, social platforms and community newsletters. From there it was full throttle....

Our People:

We created an Employability Coalition with members from Ivy Tech, Indiana University East, Eastern Indiana Works, EDC of Wayne County, local employers and more. The mission of the Coalition is to drive a collaborative and collective effort to move the dial forward on connecting our residents to opportunities and developing our current and future talent.

We began by understanding the current state of the Wayne County workforce by utilizing organized workforce surveys and focus groups. The Coalition took a huge step towards prioritizing workforce development locally by agreeing to become a 21st Century Talent Region and deploying county specific initiatives.

Since its 2017 inception, the Early Childhood Coalition for Wayne County Kids has been working through 250 partners (organizations and individuals) to ensure that our youngest citizens are prepared to enter kindergarten ready for their educational future. During 2019, these efforts were enhanced through a number of grant dollars from various state agencies: $206,000 for four new pre-school classes; $25,000 Leadership cadre; $25,000 to support an early initiative.

MOVING
Wayne County Forward

Our Community:

Forward Wayne County developed their own branded neighborhood development workshop; Neighborhood Involvement & Community Engagement (NICE!) program. Forward Wayne County aims to build collaborative efforts with our residents across the county to focus on the toughest challenges through asset-based community development and collective means. NICE! is just one small piece to solving our county's challenges.

Funding Projects That Support Forward Wayne County's Mission:

Wayne County Foundation's commitment to Forward Wayne County's strategy lead to more than $89,000 in grants being awarded to organizations working to advance human capital development and quality of place programs throughout Wayne County. Grantees included:

Cambridge City Main Street - To support the development of a flexible use, multi-faceted Arts and Development Center in the historic Mathias and Kline buildings located on Main Street in Cambridge City.

Centerville-Abington Schools - To expand current preschool offerings with the goal of reducing the number of students needing retention in Kindergarten.

Earlham College - To support the Earlham EPIC Grand Challenge-an incentivized competition structured to develop Earlham-community partnerships that propose solutions to local social and economic problems.

Indiana University East - To support Empower Wayne County, a program that provides exciting learning opportunities for students and a chance for local non-profits to utilize IU East students' expertise and energy to develop new programs or tackle projects that help move these organizations forward.

Junior Achievement of Eastern Indiana - To expand career readiness programming for high school seniors in Wayne County.

Richmond Neighborhood Restoration - To increase the capital capacity of Richmond Neighborhood Restoration's Loan Fund for property acquisition.

Forward Wayne County's 2020 Vision

We are excited about this year! Forward Wayne County is committed to bringing our goals into focus and making every resident's future bright and filled with opportunities. Visit forwardwaynecounty.org to learn more about what the future holds for this organization.

The Challenge Match is a community-wide fundraising effort that affords local nonprofit organizations the opportunity to raise operating dollars or money for special projects. Last year, 47 organizations collectively raised over 1.58 million dollars. The Foundation and its Match Partners added an additional $257,500 to create an amazing result: over 1.84 million dollars raised to support the operations of the organizations that are the core of our community.

Read on to learn more about three of those participating organizations.

Brighter Path

Brighter Path provides a safe and encouraging environment for people of all ages to experience the therapeutic benefit of horses. Caring, compassionate volunteers provide students with a momentary escape from their physical and emotional adversities. Money raised during the 2019 Challenge Match enabled them to expand their scholarship program allowing more individuals to participate in the program, to add staff to the team, to provide continuing education, and to update equipment.

Richmond Neighborhood Restoration

With a combination of volunteer and professional engagement, Richmond Neighborhood Restoration is revitalizing Richmond's historic neighborhoods through economic development, community development, and historic preservation. RNR used money they raised during the 2019 Challenge Match to continue their current restoration project at 2009 East Main Street in Richmond including repair of interior walls and hardwood floor and plumbing and electrical updates.

Wayne County Soil and Water Conservation District

The Wayne County Soil and Water Conservation District was created to provide information about natural resource conservation, to identify and prioritize local soil and water resource concerns, and to connect land users to sources to implement conservation practices and technologies. During the 2019 Challenge Match, they raised money to train staff and supervisors and to fund educational programs such as Conservation Days for third and fourth graders, a Regional Envirothon for high school students, a Conservation Focus Workshop, and a Women 4 the Land Learning Circle.

VIGRAN FAMILY FOUNDATION

Lifelong Richmond resident Stanley Vigran considered forming a private foundation as a way to support causes that were important to him and his family. As a former Wayne County Foundation board member, however, he understood there was a way to use the Foundation to achieve his goals with fewer complications and in 2001 he established the Vigran Family Foundation. By creating this supporting organization at the Foundation, he and his family retained many of the benefits of a private foundation while leveraging numerous other benefits.

Last year $83,500 in grants were awarded to the following organizations:

PROVIDING LEADERSHIP TRAINING

In 2019, the Foundation formed a partnership with the Stamm Koechlein Family Foundation to bring high caliber, affordable training to 42 nonprofit organizations located in Wayne County. With added financial support from the Ronald McDaniel Foundation, the trio of funders offered the Certificate in Nonprofit Executive Leadership program, presented by the O'Neil School of Public and Environmental Affairs at IUPUI. This executive-level training covered four core topics designed to strengthen the leadership capacity of organizations affiliated with the foundations.

They included:

- Nonprofit Management for the 21st Century
- Strategic Planning and Nonprofit Leadership
- Program Evaluation for Mission Impact
- Financial Analysis for Nonprofit Leaders

Scholarships were made available by First Bank Richmond, West End Bank, Wayne Bank, and Earlham College. In addition to supporting the cost of the training, the three foundations also made gifts to establish a non-permanent fund to be used to bring future training opportunities to the community.

Pictured above are participants of the Certificate in Nonprofit Executive Leadership program. Representatives from forty-two organizations spent eight weeks learning together and building their organizational capacity.

HOW ENDOWMENTS HELP NON-PROFIT ORGANIZATIONS

Endowments help diversify an organization's income and reduce their vulnerability in economically uncertain times. An endowment is another way organizations can effectively manage their resources, plan more efficiently for the future, and survive a crisis.

Learn how three organizations are benefiting from their endowments.

Birth-to-Five

In 2007 when the Foundation offered matching funds to nonprofits interested in establishing endowments, Birth-to-Five was one of the first to respond. Having established their endowment just one year earlier, they saw an opportunity to build it more quickly by utilizing the match and, over the next few months, they added an additional $7,930. In each of the following match opportunities, the Birth-to-Five staff and board members stepped up to raise funds for their endowment which today totals $44,262.

Hayes Arboretum

Begun in 1997 with a gift of $5,000 from the Stanley W. Hayes Research Foundation, the Hayes Arboretum Education Endowment has grown to $21,879. Last year, the Arboretum staff took advantage of the Lilly Endowment GIFT VII match to grow their endowment by encouraging their donors to give during a qualifying match period.

Morrisson-Reeves Library

Morrisson-Reeves Library established an endowment in 2008 with funds the library board felt would be better utilized if they were combined and grown under the stewardship of the Foundation. Annually patrons give in honor or memory of friends and family or in appreciation of the services offered by the library. Today it has grown to $260,516 and in 2019, the Library received $10,566 from their endowment to support their operations and program expenses.

Bequests Create Legacies

A charitable bequest is one of the easiest and most significant ways to give. A charitable bequest does not reduce your assets during your lifetime, but may reduce the size of the taxable estate you leave to your heirs.

Bequests can be a specific dollar amount, a percentage of one's estate, or the amount that remains after all other obligations have been fulfilled.

BEQUESTS

These funds might be in the form of:

- scholarships to be awarded based on the donor's selected criteria;
- organization-designated funds, benefitting the work of one or more specific agencies;
- field of interest funds that can support a range of programs or initiatives relating to certain charitable themes; or
- unrestricted funds to be used to address the most pressing needs over time or in support of opportunities as they become apparent.

Regardless of the fund type that is established by the gift, a bequest serves to identify and memorialize the charitable program or purpose that is most important to you. The generosity that is expressed by a bequest is very meaningful and creates a lasting difference in our community today, tomorrow, and forever.

The Robert R. Rhoads Community Endowment was established by a gift from his estate to memorialize his life. This unrestricted fund provides grants to community organizations and, since its inception, has distributed over $36,434, awarding nearly $11,400 last year alone. Begun with just $5,000, the fund has grown through gifts and investment income to over $348,000 today.

Legacy Society

For forty-one years, the Foundation has helped generous individuals and families create lasting benefits for our community. The Legacy Society was created in 2007 to thank these forward thinking donors and to recognize their generosity during their lifetimes.

The Society is comprised of individuals who have made formal plans to benefit the community through a gift to the Foundation. We thank the members of the Legacy Society and our Cornerstones who remembered the Foundation prior to the creation of the Legacy Society.

CHARLES A. RODEFELD AWARD

For Leadership in Philanthropy and Community Service

When Rick Ahaus learned the probability of dropping out of high school is correlated directly to a student's ability to read at grade level by third grade, and that area schools were seeing a high drop-out rate, he teamed up with friend Vic Jose to assure students in Wayne County had tools to overcome any deficits they were facing. Together they created the nonprofit organization Every Child Can Read. One of the pivotal programs of the organization, Third Grade Academy, has, since its inception, educated over 1,000 second and third graders who were having difficulty reading at their grade level. Once the need for early childhood literacy programs was identified and the reading intervention program was established, Rick gave generously of his time, energy, and resources to ensure it was a success. He served as the chairman of Every Child Can Read's board for 13 years and continues to be a driving force behind the organization's fundraising efforts.

His support of education doesn't stop there. His company, Ahaus Tool and Engineering, has long been a community leader in the development of young peoples' minds and skills through its apprenticeship program, preparing high school students to enter skilled positions in the industry.

In addition to his work with Every Child Can Read, Rick has been elected to both the Richmond City Council and the Richmond Community Schools Board of Trustees and has served as chairman of many local organizations' boards including the Wayne County Foundation.

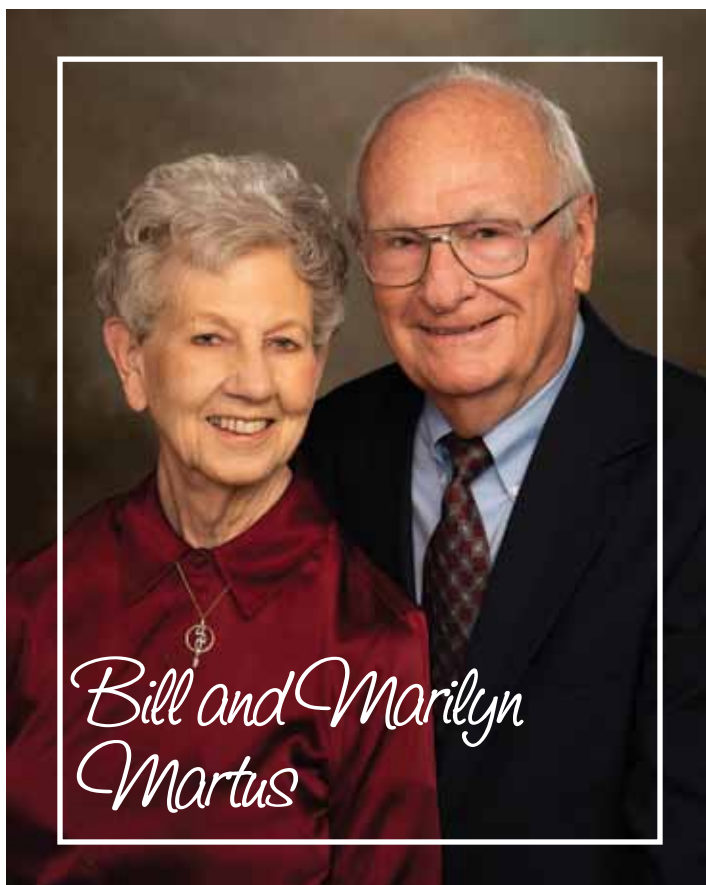

Rick's hard work, dedication to excellence, and quiet philanthropy combined to alter the paths for Wayne County students and made him the perfect candidate for the Charles A. Rodefeld Award for Leadership in Philanthropy and the Community.

Bill and Marilyn Martus have more than a vision for improving their community. They have passion that is put into action daily.

One of their passions is the Richmond Day Nursery (RDN). Marilyn serves on the organization's board and, during her tenure, has twice served as its president. She has provided leadership with financial decisions including grant-writing, creating the organization's budget, and providing guidance for the annual internal audit process.

According to her nominators, Marilyn holds the board and the Executive Director to very high standards when it comes to spending but is fair on voting for things that will improve services, staff morale, and quality of care. Together, she and Bill provide hands-on help with the facility's repairs to assure the organization's maintenance costs remain as low as possible.

Marilyn has also served on the boards of the Richmond Art Museum and Genesis of Richmond, as the first female president of Forest Hills Country Club, as a volunteer at election polls, and as a volunteer for the Community Kitchen. Together, she and Bill have volunteered at the Boys and Girls Clubs for over twenty years and serve Richmond's Catholic community in a variety of ways.

In addition to his volunteer work at RDN, Bill served on the Economic Development Corporation of Wayne County board for many years, even stepping in as interim President/CEO at various times. He has also served on the Richmond Symphony Orchestra and Perfect Circle Credit Union boards and annually serves as a volunteer at election polls.

In their letter of support, one nominator wrote, "Bill and Marilyn breathe hard work, sound advice, and caring hearts into every organization they dedicate their lives to." It is for these, and many others reasons, Bill and Marilyn Martus were chosen as the recipients of the Ruth J. Wickemeyer Award for Community Service.

ELI'S PURPOSE

Eli Neal loved adventure. From playing in a creek to seeking new places and experiences, as soon as his eyes opened, he would seek out his family and friends for a day of fun.

After his untimely passing, Eli's parents established the Eli's Purpose Scholarship in honor of their smart, loving, caring, sly, energetic fourteen year old son so that his name would live on. Contributions from family and friends and two annual events help fund the scholarship. The Super Hero Fun Run and the Orange Fox Golf Outing assure that the scholarship - the purpose of which is to help another person live their dreams and adventures like Eli did - is available to any graduating student at Hagerstown High School starting with Eli's graduating class.

"Eli was an animal lover. His playfulness and curiosity reminded us of an orange fox. Since the accident, orange foxes have been popping up almost every day. We know it's Eli letting us know he is still with us," said Eli's mother, Meghan. One event, The Orange Fox Outing, is a golf scramble that annually raises money for the fund.

"Eli had a love/hate relationship with running but participated in the sport as a way to stay close to his lifelong friends. They would often talk about who the best super hero was. To Eli, it was Superman. We thought a fun run would be a great way to continue that fun. The Superhero Fun Run is not like any other run. It's more about bragging rights for your favorite super hero. Costumes are the main event and highly encouraged for this charity run," said Eli's father, Chad Neal.

Through the family's thoughtfulness, students at Hagerstown High School will not only remember Eli's caring heart and curious nature but will benefit from this generous gift in his memory.

Lilly Endowment Community Scholarships

The prestigious Lilly Endowment Community Scholarships are awarded annually to two graduating seniors from Wayne County high schools. The recipients are selected on the basis of their academic performance, a written essay, letters of recommendation provided by a teacher or coach, and their extracurricular activities.

Lilly Endowment Community Scholars receive a four-year full tuition scholarship and book stipend to the public or private Indiana college of their choice.

2019 Lilly Endowment Scholars

LILLY SCHOLARS

Molly Coomes

Molly Coomes attended Centerville High School. When chosen for the award, she had a 4.10 GPA and planned to graduate with an Academic Honors diploma. Molly participated in National Honor Society, 4-H, Students Against Drunk Driving, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and basketball. While in school, she served in several leadership positions, including Senate Floor Leader of Model Legislature and class Secretary. She is the daughter of Andy Coomes and Kevin and Renee Westover.

After graduation, Molly began attending Purdue University. Here's an update on her first semester...

"I am well in to my second semester at Purdue University and I can finally say I have adjusted to college life. I am already on track to graduate at least a semester early, and am working hard to achieve that academic goal. Since I am an animal science major I have to do a lot of hands-on labs at Purdue's Animal Science Research and Education Center which I have thoroughly enjoyed.

Aside from my academic life here at Purdue, I have spent time traveling and competing with the Purdue Western Equestrian Team which I joined in August. Through Purdue Career Fairs this year I interviewed and accepted an offer for an internship with Harvest Land Coop which I look forward to completing this summer when I return home.

I would again like to thank the Foundation for the opportunity to pursue my education here at Purdue University and for the continuous support as one of the 2019 Lilly Endowment Scholars for Wayne County! It is an achievement I will cherish forever and continue to be grateful for."

Joseph Lahmann

Joseph attended Seton Catholic High School and, at the time of his selection had a 4.80 GPA and planned to graduate with an Academic Honors diploma. Joseph was very active in the local community theatre where he performed and volunteered. He also participated in track and field, National Honor Society, and Student Council. He is the son of Margaret Lahmann and Patrick Lahmann.

After graduation, Joseph began attending Rose Hulman. Here's an update on his first two quarters...

"Let's just cut straight to the chase: College is fantastic. The past 5 and a half months have been a blur of studying, building friendships and learning more and more how to stand on my own two feet. It's been surreal, but at the same time feels so natural."

Coming to the end of my second quarter at Rose Hulman, I've only just begun to take advantage of all the opportunities this school has to offer. I've decided to add a robotics minor and have taken some evening shop classes on welding and basic machining. Beyond classes, I've joined the Choir, Chamber Choir and Combat Robotics (it's just as much fun as it sounds). I've also devoted much of my time to a campus organization called Make It Happen, which takes projects from the community and "makes it happen." This quarter my teammates and I have been building an electric bike to allow our client and her developmentally challenged adult son to ride again. Spring quarter we have another project helping to prototype a grooming tool for people with disabilities. I sincerely look forward to sitting on the board for this organization starting soon."

While I haven't exactly had much time for reflection, I do on occasion marvel over just how much my life has changed since coming here. I marvel even more over the fact that I get to be here. It's been quite a ride so far, and I'm excited to see what else I can do over the next few years."

An Update from Lilly Community Scholar Mikey Maurer

Dr. Mikey Maurer, a 2007 Lilly Community Scholar, is now a board-certified General Pediatrician and the lead pediatrician of the University of Miami/Dr. John T. Macdonald Foundation's School Health Initiative in Miami, Florida. After Mikey graduated from Richmond High School, he received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Notre Dame and his medical degree from the IU School of Medicine. He was awarded the Lyman T. Meiks Clinical Pediatrics Award and was inducted into the Gold Humanism Honor Society. Currently, he provides primary care and preventive health services to un- and underinsured children and adolescents throughout Miami-Dade County via his work in nine Title 1 schools and on the Pediatric Mobile Clinic. He also advocates for the healthcare rights of all children.

"The generosity of the Wayne County Foundation and the Lilly Endowment Scholarship Program completely changed my life and motivated me to become a force for good in the world. Through this program I became exposed to many of the challenges, inequalities, and injustices that our world faces and have subsequently dedicated my life to serving some of the most marginalized members of US society. Although I am no longer in Indiana, I attribute each step of my journey to the Wayne County Foundation for giving me the chance to reach for my dreams."

Continuing The Legacy

Dear Friends,

Thank you for supporting the community through the Wayne County Foundation in 2019. Under the leadership of retired Executive Director Steve Borchers, the impact of giving to the Foundation and community grantmaking has made Wayne County an even better place to work, volunteer, learn, play and thrive. I am thrilled to serve as the next Executive Director of the Foundation and continue the legacy of gift stewardship and philanthropy into the future.

Although the 2019 Annual Report comes in a time of uncertainty, we have much to be thankful for:

The 2019 Challenge Match had forty-seven participating organizations that raised over $1.5 million from the community to trigger $257,000 from the Foundation for a total contributed benefit of over $1.8 million.

The Foundation awarded nearly $2.3 million in grants, distributions, and scholarships, including six Key Initiative Grants totaling over $89,000 to support Forward Wayne County strategic initiatives.

Over $7 million in gifts were received in 2019 and helped to grow our assets to just over $52 million.

We give thanks. Because of donors like you, tremendous support is felt across the county. Thank you for a wonderful year!

Rebecca Gilliam, Executive Director

MANY THANKS

What a year 2019 was! After nearly 15 years as our Executive Director, Steve Borchers began his transition into "rewirement." We were tasked with finding his successor. After an extensive national search with the help of an independent executive consultant, we found Rebecca Gilliam, who hit the ground running in the midst of meeting the requirements for the Lilly Endowment's Gift VII program and overseeing the collective impact work for Forward Wayne County. Thanks to the exceptional team we have in Rachel, Lisa, Amy, and Theresa, the Foundation never missed a beat.

We bid a very fond farewell to Steve, who joined the Foundation in 2005 when the grants awarded totaled $983,721 and our total fund balance was $28,994,267. Today, he passes on a legacy that includes a total of $2,336,927 in grants awarded and net assets of $48,967,610. We can also credit Steve with leading the team in initiating the Challenge Match, a grant cycle specifically designed to better develop donor cultivation skills in Wayne County's nonprofit organizations, helping make the work they already do more impactful. Finally, he oversaw the creation and implementation of Forward Wayne County's collective impact model as an innovative way to drive the grant-making process.

Many thanks from all of us, Steve. We'll miss your deadpan wit, thoughtful oversight, and tireless dedication to Wayne County's growth and progress. Godspeed, friend.

With sincere gratitude.

Amy Noe Dudas, 2019 Board Chair

Steve Borchers spent 40 years serving the not-for-profit sector, 14 of which was shared with the Wayne County Foundation. During his tenure at the Foundation he helped grow the organization's assets to more than $52 million and oversaw new initiatives as the Foundation continued to encourage philanthropy and charitable giving.

In 2005, Steve spearheaded the organization's first compliance standards effort and assured the Foundation remained in compliance through two additional reconfirmations. He weathered the recession of 2008, initiated the Challenge Match which today is in its ninth year and growing steadily and developed Forward Wayne County, a program that is leading the Foundation forward in the ever-changing times it faces today.

But more importantly Steve served with the utmost integrity and transparency. He showed kindness and compassion to those who came to the Foundation seeking to make a gift. And most importantly, he made a difference.

I have thoroughly enjoyed working with the Foundation's donors, grantees, staff, and community partners to help support a wide range of charitable interests and drive positive change. There's no other job like it.
